(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO May 21 —(UP)— A special session of the state legislature probably on May 25, was assured after Gov. Frank F. Merriam indicated the call would be issued "in a few days."

Unable to obtain the necessary $2,500,000 for relief requirements during the remainder of May and June, the special session was the last resort.

Legislative leaders predicted a very brief session, not exceeding two days inasmuch as official business will be limited to the one subject.

California's newest levy, the "in lieu" tax on motor vehicles substituted for local personal property taxes on automobiles, netted a total of $7,345,644 during the first quarter of the current year, officials announced.

Of this amount, $1,820,274 was allocated to cities on a basis of population, $4,550,647 went to counties and the remainder was placed in the state general fund with the exception of the 1 per cent allowance for administrative costs.

It was estimated the tax would net approximately $9,000,000 for the year.

The purchase of $54,000 worth of state park bonds by the finance department was announced by officials to provide funds for the purchase and improvement of state park lands in Contra Costa, Humboldt and Siskiyou counties.

All park purchases are made on a matching basis with private funds.

Constitutionality of the state's 3 per cent retail sales tax was upheld by the third district appellate court in a case brought by 550 Los Angeles firms and individuals who had paid the tax under protest.

The long controversy over award of a liquor stamp contract finally was brought to a close when board of equalization members announced they would not protest action of Finance Director A. E. Stockburger in granting the contract to a San Francisco firm.

The board previously has recommended acceptance of the bid of a Chicago stamp concern, but were overruled by Stockburger principally because of a 16-cent price differential in the two bids.

A change in the administration of the state industrial home for the blind in Berkeley appeared assured after Harry Lutgens, director of institutions, admitted there was "evidence of lax management."

Previously several organizations had demanded the removal of Superintendent Joseph Kelly, including the state federation of women's clubs.

H. A. MacDonald, last occupant of the building, has preserved the door and may present it to a museum as a relic of pioneer days.

Northern Calif. Leads In Federal Credit Loans

The leadership of Northern California in government-insured modernization credit loans won national recognition today when Stewart McDonald, administrator of the Federal Housing Administration, dispatched a congratulatory message to Clifford C. Anglin, district director.

Declaring "the records here in Washington show 89,701 individuals in your district have been enabled through the National Housing Act to make their homes more livable and comfortable," Administrator McDonald states:

"I want to take this opportunity to thank the lending institutions of Northern California for the very splendid cooperation given the Federal Housing Administration in lending to these 89,701 individuals $23,748,928 under the provisions of Title I of the National Housing Act, thereby stimulating all phases of the building industry and creating employment for thousands of craftsmen."

"Our records through April show your office has exceeded its potential of the $1,000,000,000 goal which we set for the United States."

Anglin declared that the modernization credit plan, which Congress recently extended until next April, provides government insurance for loans by private lending institutions in amounts up to $2,000 for improvement of home and farm properties and up to $50,000 for rehabilitating and modernizing properties devoted to commercial and industrial purposes.

The loans are payable in equal monthly installments extending over periods as long as five years.

"It is a pleasure to add to Administrator McDonald's expression of appreciation the thanks of this office to lending institutions for their very fine cooperation," Anglin said, "and to convey congratulations to the progressive citizens of the various communities participating."

"A large share of credit goes to the effective work of public spirited Better Housing committees whose efforts have won national acclaim. To each and every one I extend personal thanks and appreciation."

Anglin said this phase of the Act should not be confused with the insured single mortgage system, applying exclusively to home financing, in which the mortgage is amortized in monthly rent-like payments over periods as long as 20 years. The Northern California district office already has accepted for appraisal 4800 such mortgage applications approximating $21,000,000 Anglin said.

ASSEMBLY PROPOSE NEW RULES OF PROCEDURE

Lower House Would Be A Really Efficient Law-Making Machine With New Rules.

SACRAMENTO May 21 —(UP)—

By taking the tricks out of assembly rules of procedure, members hope next year to make the lower house of California's legislature a really efficient law-making machine.

A special committee headed by Assemblyman Charles W. Lyon, Los Angeles, has been studying the question for eight months and has recommended a series of drastic changes in the house rules.

If the committee has its way, there will be no "stopping of the clock" with sessions going far into the night.

As a means of reducing the general confusion lobbyists would be denied the privilege of running from desk to desk, and three rows in the gallery will be set aside for the use of the guests of members.

It also is proposed that mornings of each legislative day shall be devoted only to committee meetings, with the assembly convening each afternoon at 2 p. m.

Other recommendations deal particularly with the reduction of printing costs, with the committee's program saving an estimated $50,000 to $100,000 each session. A drastic reduction in the number of copies of bills and daily journals printed is proposed.

Other proposals included: New members should not have their pet measures killed by a motion to lay an amendment on the table, which formerly by a technicality carried the entire measure to its death.

Adjournment will be fixed seven days in advance by the adoption of a resolution, after which one house can consider only bills originating in the other branch without consent of the presiding officer and a three-fourths vote.

REPORT ON CRIME SHOWS DECREASE

SACRAMENTO May 21 —(UP)—A decline in the number of crimes reported to the state bureau of criminal identification was revealed in the monthly summary of the bureau prepared by Clarence Morrill, chief.

During April a total of 2,591 crimes were reported as compared with 2,736 for the same month a year ago. The total for the year to date however, was 1,965, or more than 1,000 above the 10,955 total for the first four months of 1935.

The most substantial drop during April was in the number of burglary cases reported, the total decreasing from 1,847 to 1,692.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kocher and daughter returned on Wednesday from a vacation spent in Sacramento Vallejo, and the bay region.

THE LANDON DEFEAT

Victory of the uninstructed Republican ticket in California's presidential primary election was viewed by many editors more in the light of a repudiation for Publisher Hearst than as a defeat for Governor Landon.

President Roosevelt's overwhelming majority in the Democratic balloting caused no surprise, that result having been predicted generally.

"The result of this election," said the Alameda Times-Star, "is not so much a repudiation of Governor Landon as it is of William Randolph Hearst, who sought to control the vote of California in the Republican convention just as he did the Democratic convention four years ago, a fact that aided materially in the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt. The attitude of Mr. Hearst toward California, despite his very large interests in the state of his birth, has alienated the people who no longer look upon him as a Native Son but rather as an outsider attempting to meddle in the affairs of a state of which he is no longer a citizen."

"The chief danger for Landon in the California situation," notes the Burbank Daily Review, "was in becoming entangled in the mesh of party factionalism to the extent that it would hurt him both as a candidate for the nomination and as a candidate for election should he succeed in landing the nomination. As far as outward indications show there was nothing which Landon did to justify any of the uninstructed delegates elected to vote against him if when the time comes he seems to be the logical candidate. He neither recognized the list of delegates pledged to him, nor did anything that should justly offend those on the other list."

The main issue, according to the Turlock Daily Journal, "was against the slate that had been hand-picked by Hearst. Politically speaking, it is not easy for an uninstructed delegation to beat a ticket headed by an individual, particularly when that individual happens to be a fairly popular person. * * * Much of the vote that the Landon ticket did receive in California was because Landon was and still is a popular choice with many people. These persons voted for Landon in spite of the fact that it was Hearst's ticket. If it had not been for this fact the defeat would have been of even greater proportions."

"Governor Merriam," comments the San Francisco News, "threw all his support to the Hearst-Landon ticket at Tuesday's primary. And he takes a licking along with Mr. Hearst. This removes an embarrassment from California by removing Mr. Merriam as a contender for the nomination for vice-president. After Mr. Merriam finishes his term, he should be able to go back to his real estate business. Nobody can say after Tuesday that he speaks for the Republicans of California."

"If Landon hadn't had the misfortune to be sponsored in California by the Hearst-Merriam combination," remarks the Fullerton News-Tribune, "he might have had a chance at a landslide similar to the ones he has had in other states. Landon was in a worse spot than Sinbad the Sailor. William Randolph Hearst on one shoulder and Frank Finley Merriam on the other are too much of a load for any candidate to carry."

"The incident," concludes the Los Angeles Illustrated Daily News, "may be a lesson to future aspirants for political office in California. When Hearst puts his hand on a politician, it is the touch of death. No amount of personal popularity or official competence can save it off. Cowardly councilmen, trembling place hunters and small-town 'constibles' may still quake at the fear of punishment from his newspapers, but no candidate for responsible office, no incumbent in office can afford to overlook the lesson of Tuesday's primaries. It matters little whether he has the record of being a good Democrat or a good Republican, if he wears the livery of Hearst he is headed for the ashcan."

YOUTH TACKLES THE WORLD

That time of year is almost here, now, when great legions of youth will march forth from high schools and colleges, diplomas in hand, with high hopes and an indomitable determination to conquer the world.

Naturally they will be somewhat disillusioned, and disciplined in the school of hard knocks. That merely tempers the steel. But how much better their opportunities are this year! More jobs are open to them than at any other time since 1931.

Problems galore, of course, as youth always has. Many of them will go into large business enterprises, there to start at the bottom. They will spend long hours in this "school" learning salesmanship, marketing, efficient business methods and procedure. Their incomes, while not huge at first, will be adequate, steady and certain.

Others, having a little saved, will choose a less certain path, setting up enterprises of their own. They should know beforehand that competition causes only 2 to 3 per cent of business failures, while inexperience and lack of capital cause 25 to 30 per cent.

So competition from large organizations will not block their paths, if they have the experience and wisdom to be efficient, and enough money to support even a very small business properly.

These problems of livelihood first. But what a multitude more there are! Problems of marriage, of a home, of future relationships—all to be tackled with youth's bustling energy and enthusiasm. What man is not tempted to want to turn back time and relive these years of his life?

A GLIMPSE OF EDWARD MACDOWELL

MacDowell's father and mother were greatly disappointed when he decided to be a composer rather than a pianist. They found it hard to believe that their son was one of those very rarest of creatures—a man of original genius; they little guessed that he was destined to be the first great musician of America. They had set their hearts on seeing him a successful piano virtuoso; perhaps one of the famous ones of the world. This he might have been, indeed, if he had been willing to take more time from composing....

MacDowell had what he himself considered the greatest triumph of his life when his "Indian Suite" was played by the Boston Symphony Orchestra, while on the same evening he himself played with them his Second Concerto. He was recalled a dozen times by the enthusiastic audience. And it is a symbol of his love for Boston that of all the many trophies he received throughout his life, the great laurel wreath that was given him on this occasion was the only one he cared to preserve. It still hangs on the wall of his music room at Peterborough, where it has kept green for twenty-six years.

Mr. Philip Hale, the distinguished critic, has called this Suite of MacDowell's "one of the noblest compositions of modern time."

One day at Hillcrest, the deserted farm that the MacDowells bought in the town of Peterborough, to be their summer home, Edward had an unsatisfactory day. He had written nothing that contented him. Ideas did not come right in the form that sounded right to his sensitive ears. He had, indeed, jotted down a few bars of a little simple melody that sang in his head, a simple theme, almost like a small bird's piping. But he thought little of it; rolled up the bit of paper on which the notes were dotted and tossed it towards the fireplace, not noting where it fell. Luckily, it missed the grate itself and fell on the hearth, where it lay unmolested for the rest of the day.

Mrs. MacDowell knew her husband's habits well. She saved him from many kinds of mistakes by keeping an eye on his absentmindedness, and by watching with affectionate care over his lack of self-confidence. On this particular evening she came into the music room after MacDowell had finished his day's work, and as usual glanced over the place to be sure everything was left safe for the night. Presently she spied a bit of paper twisted on the hearth. With her usual caution she opened and examined it. She hummed the little melody to herself, and thought it very lovely. "I will save this," she thought. "I will show it to him a little later," and she put the fragment in her pocket.

The next morning before MacDowell retired to work, his wife handed him a bit of paper. "I picked this up last night. I think it is rather a pretty little melody," was all she said. To please his wife he looked the paper over. "Hm!" he exclaimed, and sitting down at the piano played the melody again and once again. "Why, yes," he mused. "It is not so bad. It is like a little Wild Rose theme, isn't it?"

He took the paper with him to his study and worked over it with enthusiasm. And when he had finished, lo and behold! It was the beautiful little piano piece, "To a Wild Rose," which everybody loves. It makes one feel as MacDowell felt when he smelled the fragrance that in the meadows about Hillcrest; when he smelled the fragrance that came in at the window.—"From 'The Boyhood of Edward MacDowell,'" by Abbie Farwell Brown.

Politically Speaking

By GEORGE E. HELMER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO May 21 —(UP)—A scattered group of legislators, visiting Sacramento for the purpose of making hotel reservations and looking around in advance of the proposed special session expressed quite freely the general belief that democrats likely will control the lower house next January.

Assemblyman Claude Minard, republican who does not plan to run for re-election from the Fresno district, offered to bet three to one the speaker would be a democrat, and predicted the personnel of the assembly would be at least 45 democrats to 35 republicans.

Last year, the republicans had a slight edge in registration numbers, 42 to 38, but a wide margin of power because only 26 of the democrats stuck together. Some of the others really were republicans who had been elected on democratic tickets.

There will be many changes. Some of the assemblymen, both republican and democratic, have their eyes on congress. Others will return here as lobbyists. Others have settled into jobs which cannot be vacated for a six-month period. Still others face stiff contests which may leave them defeated.

The heavy democratic registration is almost bound to result in an important increase in the ranks of Bourbon legislators, even to the extent of giving democrats, for the first time in recent history, control of state legislation.

The interim committee on legislative rules promises to improve procedure, if its recommendations are adopted. Bill introduction will be limited; there will be no clock stopping; much of the wasted motion and procrastinating habit will be abolished if other members agree with the committee's report.

This, combined with the situations which would arise from conflicts between a republican administration and senate, and a democratic assembly, should make the 52nd session one of the most interesting the capital has witnessed.

Democrats, particularly those in the south, have started their drive against the proposed new liquor amendment sponsored by the republican board of equalization.

Indignant because the initiative, if approved, would freeze out democrats from any chance of winning positions on the board in the 1938 election, Bourbons were expected to either submit a plan of their own or attempt to unite in a movement to defeat the board's proposal.

The first blast came from the Los Angeles county democratic central committee, which charged that plans were underway to finance the board's initiative with a $115,000 "slush fund" raised from industries "now at the mercy of the republican board of equalization."

Board members denied knowing anything about the financing of the initiative. "That's being handled by Clem Whitaker," they said, referring to the advertising-publicity man who made a name for himself in that field by helping to put across the Central Valleys Water Project and directing one of the anti-Sinclair campaigns in the 1934 gubernatorial contest.

"We drew up the proposed amendment, but we have nothing to do with financing the initiative," Fred E. Stewart member, commented.

Whitaker also denied the $115,000 slush fund charge, saying the Liquor Law Enforcement League, being organized to conduct the campaign, would include in its membership many drys, as well as hotel and restaurant men, business leaders and representatives of the liquor industry.

Support for the proposal from State Senator Ralph Swing, chairman of the senate liquor investigating committee; the Southern California Hotel association; California Northern Hotel association; California State Hotel association and Southern California Restaurant association.

"I wonder if Ray Riley's being in the south had anything to do with that blast from the democrats?" one board employee said.

Riley, state controller, was one of the first to condemn the proposed amendment as an effort on the board's part to sell the people of California "a $1,000,000 gold brick."

TAHOE REGION NEWS

By Swanee

Considerably thinner, and minus a lot of his usual pep, Joe Henry returned home to Tahoe on Wednesday last. Considering the severe siege of illness which kept him hospital bound for seven weeks, we thought Joe had withstood the ordeal admirably. He has gained twenty pounds since leaving the city and hopes to regain his good health completely with the aid of Tahoe's rarified atmosphere and sunshine. The entire community, with best wishes, heartily second the motion Joe.

Miss Agnes Soll of Sacramento, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Soll of Pine Lodge, this week assumed her duties on the switchboard of the Tahoe City telephone exchange where she will remain for the summer.

Lewis K. Rhodes editor of the Tahoe Tattler was a visitor in town from San Francisco over Saturday at the home of Judge and Mrs. George Bliss. He will return in about two weeks to resume publication of his paper for the summer months.

Tahoe residents were elated to receive their first Sunday mail on May 17th, the post office now open on Sundays in the morning for General Delivery from 9:30 to 10:30 A. M. No outgoing Sunday mail will leave however, until the Southern Pacific trains start running (about June 19th) when it will leave the post office at 6:00 P. M. instead of 4:30 P. M. as now.

F. A. Lathe and son Charles were visitors in town from Oakland on Saturday last. According to friends with whom they talked, Mr. Lathe plans to return to Tahoe for the summer season in a week or two.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Swain, accompanied by their daughter Mrs. A. R. Westphal, arrived at Tahoe from their home in southern California on Friday. While here they visited Mrs. Frank Pomini and at Westlake, the Westphal summer home in the Sunnyside district. Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Westphal and Clifford Smith left for San Francisco on Sunday last, and plan to return for the summer in a week or ten days.

Joe Re and crew of men are busily engaged this week planting new lawns and flower beds at Westlake where over 300 Woodwardia and five finger ferns were set out last fall.

Contractors and laborers will be pleased to learn that Tony Polyanich public spirited Truckee businessman, will open at his Coffee Shop the first employment bureau. Men may make application for work and contractors and bosses may post notices for men required.

Highway equipment last week cleared the large rock slides which have kept the Emerald Bay highway closed since the spring thaw set in. Traffic is now being resumed around the bay.

Placerville summit is also reported to have been cleared allowing two way traffic again.

Edwin Nichols of Palo Alto, a guest at Tahoe Inn, went out on the lake last Friday and hauled in six nice trout to take home with him. Many nice, but non-sensational catches are being reported generally.

Deals recently completed by the Tahoe Realty Company include the sale of a lot in Lake Forest on Saturday to Paul A. Cavanaugh of Sacramento, a building contractor, who began construction of his new home on Sunday; the purchase of another lot adjoining his home in Lake Forest by Olaf Busk; the purchase by Mrs. Eleanor Sellick of San Francisco of two lots in Lake Forest unit No. 2 where Mr. Donaldson, Pine Crest contractor, will erect her a new home and the purchase by Dr. George C. ### NORDEN NEWS

The month of May cool snap has retarded fishermen of this vicinity from active participation in their chosen vocation as has been proven in the past very little success is had during cold weather.

No more ardent fisherman can be found anywhere than Louie Featsent of Norden, who can be found during off work periods enticing the finny tribe from their haunts among the near by lakes and streams. Featsent uses every known bait from the ancient angle worm, salmon eggs, grubs, artificial flies to canned beer and grape juice in its various stages, but still his basket is carried home somewhat light in weight.

Frank Briggs can be seen daily on the shores of Lake Van Norden taking dimensions of the small patches of clear water emerging from its heavy ice and snow blanket of the past winter. Very few patches of water are open, due to the unseasonable cool snap prevalent at this time.

News that should be news to the readers of this column is the verdict of "Ken Lyons" of Norden in next weeks issue.

John Kinsey of Truckee, and more recently of Norden, is boasting of his spring garden at his home in Truckee, which kept him confined to his bed several days sometime ago account of an attack of lumbago after gardening and planting of seeds for the summer. His efforts have caused Mrs. Kinsey to be particular in her vegetables. In planting carrots the garden has produced a variety more recently termed "Ethiopia Carrots" which are of a darker hue than the well known variety and which Mrs. Kinsey highly praises for exhibition purposes.

$3,100,000 REDUCTION IN TELEPHONE RATES

N. R. Powley, president of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Southern California Telephone Company, advised the California Railroad Commission today, in accepting their recent order reducing rates in the Los Angeles Exchange; that the company would, subject to the approval of the Commission, voluntarily reduce its exchange rates in the San Francisco East Bay Exchange and reduce the hand-set rate in all exchanges through the state, all of these reductions to become effective with the bills issued on and after June 1, 1936.

In making this announcement, Mr. Powley stated—
"The total annual savings to our customers in the state of California, as a result of these rate reductions, will approximate $3,100,000. We are voluntarily offering to reduce our San Francisco East Bay exchange rates $1,250,000 per annum which is the same amount as the reduction ordered by the Commission for the Los Angeles exchange. The remainder of the total reduction $600,000 per annum—is due to the statewide reduction in the hand set rate.

"During the past year our business has shown a better trend and the increased usage of our service makes possible our offering these reductions to our customers. We regret that at the time the Los Angeles rate case was started our earnings were at such a low level that we were not in a position to make the reductions that we are now planning to place in effect in both Los Angeles and San Francisco East Bay. Rate investigations are costly procedures to all parties and we desire so to conduct our affairs that we will, at all times, adequately and effectively serve the telephone using public at the lowest possible rates consistent with financial safety. We fully realize our responsibility to our patrons, employees and security owners. In meeting this three-fold obligation we should make certain that fair and just treatment is accorded to each and in making these rate reductions we are fully cognizant that we must, at all times meet each of these obligations adequately and justly.

"The rates we are offering to reduce in San Francisco East Bay exchange and the hand set reductions throughout our exchanges in the state of California are shown in Appendix 1. The San Francisco East Bay exchange rates include a reduction of 50 cents a month for individual line business message rate service, a reduction on private branch exchange trunk lines, reduction in semi-public service guarantee a reduction of 25 cents a month for one-party residence service, a reduction of 25 cents a month for two-party residence flat rate service, a reduction of 25 cents a month for two-party residence message rate service and the elimination of a monthly charge for long cords. The hand set rate for all exchanges is reduced from 25 cents a month to 15 cents a month, with the provision that the charge will be eliminated after the customer has had this service for 18 months and is to be eliminated at once for customers who have now had this service for 18 months or more. We look forward, ultimately, to the complete elimination of this additional charge, but due to the pronounced effect upon plant changes and necessary rate level considerations, it is not possible at this time to eliminate the charge entirely.

"While we are able to make these reductions in our two large metropolitan exchanges, San Francisco East Bay exchange and Los Angeles exchange, the earnings from our other exchanges are not such as to enable us to offer reductions in these exchange rate schedules. In the Commission's order reducing the rates in the Los Angeles exchange, the Commission showed the low earnings resulting from the rates in the remaining exchanges of the company throughout Southern California. The same situation applies in Northern California since the exchanges throughout this portion of the state have been receiving service for years at a level of rates, the low earnings from which preclude making basic downward adjustments.

S. R. Cupples Retires From S. P. Service

S. R. Cupples of 356 North San Pedro Street, San Jose, a former Truckee resident, who retired recently after nearly 41 years of service with the Southern Pacific Company, was a guest of honor at a banquet given for him recently in San Jose. His former co-workers who gave the dinner presented Mr. Cupples with an electric refrigerator as a token of their esteem.

Cupples entered the railroad business over 40 years and 10 months ago as a section foreman at Reno, Nevada. He later became a roadmaster's clerk at Truckee. For five years he was foreman at Floriston and while there was awarded a medal for the best district in the Sacramento area.

He was transferred to Reno in 1901, to Marysville as roadmaster in 1903 and to Sacramento in 1904. In 1906 he was placed in charge of maintenance of way from Auburn, California to Sparks, Nevada with headquarters in Truckee. His fellow workers there presented him with a diamond stick pin when he left for San Jose in 1922 to take charge of the district between Gilroy and San Jose. He received a gold medal in 1923 for the best roadmaster's district on the Pacific system, the only time that a medal was awarded for the entire system.

Mr. Cupples is the husband of Mrs. Mary Cupples, and the father of Hubert Cupples of Detroit, Ernest Cupples of Santa Clara, Dr. R. A. Cupples and Miss Bernice Cupples of San Jose. He plans to take life easy from now on, he states.

SIERRA SNOW SURVEY SUMMARY IS ISSUED

The Nevada-Sierra cooperative snow survey predicts sufficient water for irrigation through the 1936 season, but says there will be some shortage for power purposes before the end of September. The survey takes in the central Sierra quadrangle, including Lake Tahoe, the Truckee, Little Truckee, Carson and East and West Walker rivers. The summary prepared by the survey predicts about 340,000 acre feet of run-off from April to July at Iceland, on the Truckee river, exclusive of water coming from Lake Tahoe. This is higher than normal. The Lahontan reservoir was 60 per cent full on April 1st, and will have a good carry-over at the end of the season.

It is expected the maximum level at Lake Tahoe will be reached about July 15th, placing the lake level at 6,225 feet above the sea level.

The Carson river is expected to discharge about 235,000 acre feet of water and 198,000 acre feet is expected from the Walker rivers, although surveys were not made this year on the West Walker due to illness of the survey crew members.

MARK TWAIN HONORED IN UNIQUE CELEBRATION

California's tribute to the great American humorist, Mark Twain, will be observed this year on May 16-17, when Angels Camp, made world-wide famous by the humorist in his immortal story, "The Jumping Frog of Calaveras," holds its annual Jumping Frog Jubilee, a historic reproduction of the famous tale that set the world laughing more than 70 years ago.

Five hundred frogs, some from the Atlantic seaboard and all parts of the nation, will participate in the international frog jumping contest held on the main street of the town, and which attracts more than 20,000 visitors annually.

A total of 50 deputy sheriffs have been sworn in to see that none of the skulduggery of filling rival frogs with buck-shot, such as was chronicled by the immortal Twain in his original story, written while he was a comparative unknown prospector on Jackass Hill in 1865.

Other important features that make this, California's most unique celebration, will include the mile-long parade of historic vehicles and will include a 14-yoke ox team, 16-mule jerk-line team, buggies, covered wagons and every type of early-day modes of transportation. A pony express race from San Andreas to Angels Camp on Sunday morning will inaugurate the big day of the celebration.

STATE FAIR SPONSORS AMATEURS CONTEST

The Board of Directors of the California State Fair voted on April 9th to sponsor a state-wide quest for the outstanding amateur talent in California. The contestants are to be singers, dancers, mimics, and so forth, of the age of 16 or older, no one act may include more than five contestants. The present plan to determine the outstanding talent from each community is to secure the sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce in each city of the state to select any number of entries in a contest, in order that it might be represented in the finale to be held at the State Fair in Sacramento, September 5 to 14 inclusive.

Three winners will be chosen by the judges of each city to proceed on a given date to the California State Fair, where they will compete in semi-finals with winners of the contests held in neighboring counties, the winners of the semi-finals to return on Sunday, September 13, to compete in the finals for the grand prizes.

The grand prizes will consist of 10 trips on Transcontinental Western Air Express to the east (New York, Chicago, and so forth), plus cash awards and professional engagements at professional salaries; and, professional engagements at professional salaries in the leading California hotels. This is a tentative list of the prizes and there will be more announced later.

If there are any in the region who are interested in such a contest they should get in touch with the Chamber of Commerce at Truckee that arrangements may be made for the auditions.

Many Auditors Hunt For Six Cent Loss

SACRAMENTO April 23 —(UP)—Disbursing records of the state relief administration showed a shortage of six cents. Auditor after auditor went through the records, trying without success to locate the error. Someplace, six cents had disappeared during the handling of many millions of dollars, and nobody could find the cause.

Then a new auditor was placed on the job. He noticed a peculiar "7", brushed his finger across it and removed a speck, leaving a "1" and clearing up the mystery that had puzzled experts for weeks.

Swing Favors New Liquor Control Set Up

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21 —Return of a large measure of control in the administration of state liquor laws to local communities and re-establishment of the State Board of Equalization as a commission handling only tax laws, was recommended today by Senator Ralph Swing of San Bernardino, chairman of the Senate Liquor Investigating Committee.

Senator Swing, whose legislative committee has studied liquor control problems for more than a year, urged public support of the new Alcoholic Beverage Act, which will be submitted to California voters at the General Election. The act creates a State Alcoholic Beverage Commission to have general supervision over liquor control, and constitutes city councils and boards of supervisors as local liquor control boards.

"It became apparent early in our research that two main situations must be corrected," said Senator Swing. "One was the fact that local communities deserved a greater share of jurisdiction in administration of state liquor laws, and the second that the State Board of Equalization had too many functions to give the time required in consideration of the problems of liquor control."

"The results of our studies have been incorporated in the initiative amendment which the voters will pass upon at the November election. I feel it is imperative that this initiative become law."

"One of the most important provisions of the new act will enable local alcoholic beverage boards, composed of city councils and boards of supervisors, to make recommendations on the issuance of licenses and summarily suspend existing licenses in the event of serious violations. This will go a long way toward giving local communities the type of control they desire."

Senator Swing also emphasized that the act will give Southern California an additional member on the State Board of Equalization, an adjustment which should have been made years ago.

Newton B. Drury, investigating officer of the division of parks estimates the state's redwood timber at 2,500,000,000 (B) board feet. The park areas provide perpetual preservation for some of the most representative stands of virgin redwood forest, including some of the largest and oldest of the redwoods and the tallest known tree in the world—the 364-foot "Founder's tree" near Dyerville, the division reported.

PTA NEWS

The last meeting of the PTA for this season was held at the Masonic Hall last Friday evening, and a Safety program was presented.

Traffic Officer Stimson of the State Highway Patrol gave an address on Safety. He stressed the point that an informed public can get behind the officers who do their duty, and help to make the highway safer.

Mrs. S. E. Gordon, president read her report of the state convention held at San Jose. A summary of this report follows:

The theme of the convention was—"Interpreting the Modern Schools." Of all educational opportunities the social science stand first, that we may live together well; then the arts and recreations, that we may learn to live together happily; next the skills and vocations, that we may learn to live together prosperously; and last the academic subjects, that we may learn to live together traditionally. Greetings were extended by Governor Merriam, who said the PTA was the combination of the two greatest organizations the work has ever known. Parents and teachers are training the youth of today to be citizens of tomorrow, the greatest asset California has. He also requested that serious consideration be given the repeal of the sales tax, which will appear on the November ballot, and to insist on determining where the money is coming from to pay the $142,000,000 needed biennially for the public

WILLOWS May 21 (UP)—A diving suit of his own invention has provided Raymond Proulx, 14-year-old Willows high school boy, with a lucrative occupation.

Raymond constructed the diving helmet from odds and ends at a total cost of $2.50. With the aid of two helpers to man the air lines and pumps, he daily explores the bottom of a deep irrigation canal which passes the golf course here.

From the canal he retrieves golf balls and sells them to the players.
